

W. H. TAFT SPEAKS HERE FRIDAY FROM SPECIAL TRAIN

SHOW CLOSES IN BLAZE OF GLORY

First Annual Horse Show Was Much Better Than Was Ever Anticipated.

NOW LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

Second Annual Show Will be Made to Exceed Anything Ever Given in a Small City.

Well, we will certainly show them next year. This is what everybody is saying about the horse show. Not that the first annual show is not a success in every particular, but it has opened the eyes of the people of the great possibilities of giving one of the best horse shows in the country in a great horse producing county like Rush.

Those who are responsible for the show deserve much credit for it required no end of work and work against odds as many people could not appreciate what a big thing could be made of a horse show. Fully three thousand people were attracted to the down-town streets today and they came to see it all. Never before was so much interest centered in horses.

Next year we will give it a few weeks earlier. The horse owners and breeders will begin to prepare weeks in advance. It will be advertised throughout the entire State and thousands will come where only hundreds attended this year.

NOTES.

Many a horse appeared before the "doing around here?" said an old woman in the bus this morning, who came here to visit friends and did not know a horse show was in progress. "Are the blacksmiths holding a picnic?" she asked.

Well, it was no mean horse show.

People who have attended horse shows all over the country declared there was more classy stuff shown in the parade here today than at any previous show ever attended.

We ought to have a battalion of police in front of our fire department in the parade today. From the number of outfits owned by the city it is apparent we believe in "protection" here.

We take our hats off to the Cambridge City band. It was there in forty places; and they wore green uniforms, too.

Lon Hinton of Morristown seems to get all the style there is in a horse out of it when showing them before the judge.

"What are all these horse shoes judge today that was immediately dismissed without a trial."

Rush county horses are worth twenty per cent. more on the dollar as a result of the show. Everybody that can afford it will go in for raising fine horses next year.

The Methodist ladies served meals in the K. of P. hall yesterday and today, making a neat sum of money.

The firm name of George C. Wyatt & Co appeared on the other side of that cow which the little boy rode in the parade.

There were many stylish and attractive turnouts in the floral parade late this afternoon. The purple and gold colors were used profusely.

The judge from Martinsville gave universal satisfaction, even among the losers.

The school children were given a half holiday today, thanks to Supt. J. H. Scholl.

The Spider Man got his today when City Marshal Price did "fly" into him. It was another case of the spider and the fly only the fly-bob caught the spider in his web. He now languishes in jail.

More pretty girls and more stylish horses was the order of the day again.

Pity we passed that David Harum law in Indiana. This would have been a great day for swoppin'.

"HAPPY CHIEF" GETS BIG SCALP

O. C. Norris of This City, is Elected Great Junior Sagamore After Keen Contest.

HAD BIG LOBBY FROM HOME

Local Braves Stormed the Big Camp in Indianapolis—This is "Plum Year" for Rushville.

At last the "Happy Chief" has come into his own. After a battle in the State convention of the Red Men assembled in Indianapolis this week, O. C. Norris of this city was honored with the position of Great Junior Sagamore. In previous conventions Norris was always a formidable candidate, but this year being a "plum year" for Rushville people, he pulled down the coveted place.

Between forty and fifty shouting Red Skins from Rushville were on hand to see that the Norris enthusiasm did not waver at any time during the proceedings. The place is considered a stepping stone to the national group of officials.

Of the contest and election today's Indianapolis Star says:

"After one of the most exciting contests in the history of the organization in Indiana, Otto Wolf, Frankfort, and O. C. Norris, Rushville, were elected, respectively, to the offices of great chief of records and great junior sagamore at the meeting of the State Great Council of the Improved Order of Red Men, held at the German House yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Norris was elected with 496 votes, George Harper, Madison, his nearest competitor, receiving 276 votes.

The election of the great junior sagamore was of much interest, as that office is considered the stepping stone to better things in the great council. Without being a sagamore it is not possible for a Red Man to be eligible for higher posts.

SID CHILD HAD TRIED TO KILL SELF

Report Circulated in Schools That Esther Berkely Cut Her Throat With Butcher Knife.

SISTER ONCE TRIED SUICIDE

It was reported in the city schools this morning that ten-year-old Esther Berkely had attempted suicide at her home on the corner of Oliver and Tenth streets last night by cutting her throat with a butcher knife.

A representative of the Daily Republican called at the Berkely home, but they denied the story, saying the child was ill with stomach trouble.

It will be remembered that Ethel Berkely, the sixteen-year-old sister of Esther, attempted suicide via the chloroform route recently.

THE WEATHER

Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday with possibly showers Thursday and continued warm.

COUNTERFEIT MONEY FOUND

I. & C. Traction Conductor is Made a Victim and Takes in Fake Dollar.

DETECTIVES ARE ON THE CASE

It is Now Thought That Others Have Emulated Ray Smelser of Gings.

When Roy Smelser of Gings was found to be the one making the counterfeit money circulated in Rushville a few weeks ago, he declared he was making it just for an experiment. The lad who is but eighteen years of age, told the same story to Police-man Pea and Capt. Hall, chief of the Secret Service department.

The boy had found some sand as fine as flour on a farm near Gings and made a number of fine molds including some five cent and twenty-five cent molds for making money. James Dinkens, formerly engaged in the junk business here, secured some of the coins and passed them out. This was done unbeknown to the Smelser boy. When Smelser told the Jinkins fellow he would get in trouble if he passed out the spurious coin and that he would not be a party to the criminal act, Jinkins then induced the lad to show him how he made the money. This request was granted. Whether or not Dinkens ever made any is a matter of conjecture, but it has developed that someone is still making the babbit metal coins. City Marshal Price is in possession of a dollar which was passed on an I. & C. conductor last week. Smelser claims he never tried to make any pieces of money other than the nickels and quarters. So it follows that others are engaged in the illicit business.

Detectives are now on the case and as the government prosecutes all counterfeiters to the full extent of the law and seldom lets one get out of their perfect drag net, arrest may be expected within the next few days.

LADIES PROVE TO BE FEARLESS WHIPS

In the Driving Horse Show This Afternoon the Spectators Had Many Thrills.

SOME CLASS TO THE HORSES

There was some class to the ladies driving horse event this afternoon. Talk about your expert whips in Central Park, New York! They are not one, two, six with the girls we grow around here. Fearlessness was the slogan and the ladies vied with each other in getting in close places, working on the nerves of an anxious and solicitous crowd of spectators. And there was some class to the horses, too.

Miss Nellie Caldwell, driving Capt. J. K. Gowdy's horse, won first premium, and Mrs. Bert Osborne won second with Albert Capp's horse.

COL. BUTLER RETURNS EAST

Came to Attend Reunion Here, Then Visited Sister in Greensburg.

Cel. T. H. Butler of Baltimore, Md., says the Greensburg News, who has been here on a visit to his sisters, Mrs. O. P. Trimble and Mrs. Rilla Schultz, left this morning for Cincinnati, where he will stop over for a few days before returning home. Mr. Butler is a member of the same company with Capt. Jack Gowdy of Rushville, and during his visit in Indiana attended a reunion of his regiment at Rushville and visited for several days at the home of the brilliant Rush county ex-soldier and statesman.

EFFORT IS MADE TO SAVE HIS LEG

Operation Was Performed on Roy Steele Yesterday at the Sexton Sanitarium.

IN BETTER CONDITION TODAY

Roy Steele, who was struck by a train while crossing the railroad at Milroy two weeks ago, had an operation performed on his foot yesterday at the Sexton sanitarium. Steele was apparently recovering when gangrene suddenly developed and the attending physicians thought amputation absolutely necessary. But in an effort to save his foot, only two of his toes and a very small portion of the foot were cut away in the operation.

He was in a much better condition today.

IT WAS A GREAT DAY FOR PATCHEN BOY

Famous Sire Was Center of Attraction and His Get Sweep the Premium Stakes.

HE WILL RIVAL BLUE BULL 75

It was a big day for Patchen Boy, too. That famous sire had a number of gets sweep the premium boards in the morning shows and in the afternoon prizes were awarded by Dick Wilson & Son for the best Patchen Boy colts shown. It proved a great show. Patchen Boy himself did never look better. He promises to leave a line of blooded stock behind him in Rush county that will rival the famous Blue Bull 75.

HAS BROKEN ALL RECORDS

Farrowed 22 Living Pigs and All Are Strong and Healthy.

A sow owned by O. E. Churchill, near Orange, farrowed twenty-two pigs over a week ago, and they are well and thriving. Mr. Churchill says this is a very unusual feat and that he has a record breaker.

HORSE SENSE IS ASSET WITH HER

Aileen Wilson, 2:02½ "Gets Happy" When the Band Begins to Play.

AND SO DOES HER DRIVER

She is Fond of Loaf Sugar and Unlike Any Other Horse, Enjoys Watching the Races

Never is Dick Wilson so happy as when the band is playing. And never is his famous little mare, Aileen Wilson, so happy. The graceful animal was keyed to a high pitch both yesterday and today in the parade when the band began to play. She could not understand why she was not soaring up and down in front of a grand stand getting ready for a race.

Aileen Wilson possesses more intelligence than the average race horse. In fact, she is credited with doing things that are almost human. For instance, she well knows the difference when they hitch her up whether it is going to be for a jog or a race. Dick Wilson always dresses and undresses in her stall when he makes ready to race. When he jogs her he wears his everyday clothes. The minute Mr. Wilson starts to take off his clothing, the little mare begins to toss her head and get on the anxious seat, like a child waiting for his parents to dress for the circus.

Aileen is passionately fond of sugar and Mr. Wilson never races her but what he gives her a generous amount of loaf sugar. It will not injure a horse in any wise, so eminent authority claims, but is really good for the animals.

Often Aileen is led out near the track where she can watch other horses in races. She seems to enjoy it immensely. She will rub her head on the fence until they get the word to go, then she is all attention, watching the equines go the entire distance around the course.

John Ramsey, the colored groomsmen who cares for Aileen, is as proud of her as a mother is of her first born. He watches over her with utmost care and all his thoughts and ambitions are centered in the little mare.

BURIAL OCCURRED TODAY

Funeral Services of Marshall Hollowell Held at Raleigh.

The funeral services of Marshall Hollowell, who died Monday evening at the Sexton sanitarium about 7:30 o'clock as the result of injuries received from his own hands, were held in the Raleigh Christian church this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Dr. V. W. Tevis of this city officiated. Burial occurred in the Raleigh Christian church cemetery.

WHAT HAS BECOME OF —

The fellow who was always looking for another fellow and was going to lick him for going with his sister?

The mother who said it would ruin any young girl to learn to play the organ or piano and unfit her for doing housework and sewing?

A BAPTIST ELDER
Restored to Health by Vinol
 "I was run down and weak from indigestion and general debility, also suffered from vertigo. I saw a cod liver preparation called Vinol advertised and decided to give it a trial, and the results were most gratifying. After taking two bottles I regained my strength and am now feeling unusually well." Henry Cunningham, Elder Baptist Church, Kingston, N. C.
 Vinol is not a patent medicine—but a preparation composed of the medicinal elements of cods' livers, combined with a tonic iron and wine. Vinol creates a hearty appetite, tones up the organs of digestion and makes rich, red blood. In this natural manner, Vinol creates strength for the run-down, overworked and debilitated, and for delicate children and old people. For chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis Vinol is unexcelled.
 All such persons in this vicinity are asked to try Vinol on our offer to refund their money if it fails to give satisfaction.
 Vinol is sold in Rushville by F. B. Johnson & Co., Druggists.

MR. TAFT'S VOICE
TO BE SPARED
Nominee Will Be Seen Not Heard In Indiana.
SAVING UP FOR FINAL WHIRL

In Order That Mr. Taft's Voice, Already Strained to the Breaking Point, May Be Spared for the Closing Hours of the Campaign, the Nominee Will Only Be Heard at Night Meetings on His Indiana and Ohio Tour, Though the Original Itinerary Will Be Carried Out, That the People of These States May Greet the Candidate.

Cincinnati, Oct. 21.—Mr. Taft will leave Cincinnati tonight and begin at once a tour of Indiana. On his return from New York he will close the campaign in a speech at Youngstown, O., Monday night, Nov. 2. The national committee is particularly interested in the Ohio situation because of the many though disputed reports of disaffection in several sections of that state, but the committee insists that it has no doubt of the result in the state as a whole. It now proposes, it was said, "to clinch the nail." Mr. Taft will appear at all the day meetings which have been announced in his itinerary in Indiana and Ohio. The object of this is to satisfy the crowds that are expected to attend and to save Mr. Taft's voice for the night meetings that have been announced.

The final whirl of the Republican national campaign will occur in Indiana, Ohio and New York. This is in conformity with Chairman Hitchcock's original plan. From now until the day of the vote, every available speaker of national reputation will be heard in the three states which both parties regard as pivotal.

Chairman Hitchcock declares that the Republicans have no doubt as to the result in the states where the political battle is now being waged. Every day's report satisfied him that the national Republican ticket would win in Ohio, Indiana and New York. The national committee will give all the help it can to the contest in Ohio. The campaign in Indiana will also be conducted with all the vigor the national committee can put into it.

West Virginia Greets Taft.
 Parkersburg, W. Va., Oct. 21.—Taft day in West Virginia was the Republican political event of the present campaign in this state. Judge Taft traversed its entire length from Martinsburg to Parkersburg, but wherever he stopped he was the feature of a demonstration, in each instance carefully planned, and which brought together many voters. Special trains were run to many of the towns in which the candidate spoke, thus making his presence available to residents from many parts of the state not visited. Western Maryland also had its share of the candidate, who stopped in a number of the smaller towns along the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The Parkersburg meeting, however, furnished all of the spectacular features belonging to a political rally. There was a parade with many marching clubs in line, representing political organizations from a number of nearby towns, including those on the Ohio side of the river.

BRYAN IN LOUISVILLE
 Following Indiana Trip, Commoner Crosses the River.
 Louisville, Ky., Oct. 21.—The tour of Mr. Bryan through Indiana was a notable one. Accompanied as he is to large crowds and lusty cheers, the demonstrations accorded him Tuesday were commented upon by the candidate as being exceedingly gratifying. A pleasing feature of the trip was the repeated calls for Mrs. Bryan, who shared in the handshaking with her husband. She was overwhelmed with attention at every place where a stop was made, and was the recipient of many handsome floral pieces.

The Democratic candidate, although he had but six hours' sleep, appeared fresh and strong when he delivered his first of sixteen speeches of the day at Hammond at 7:30 o'clock. His voice was in splendid shape and he commanded the strict attention of his many audiences. His favorite themes during the day were the planks of the Democratic platform relating to labor, the guaranty of bank deposits and the publicity of campaign contributions, and frequently aroused his auditors to a high pitch of enthusiasm. He appealed for support of the Democratic party on the ground that it was nearer to the people, and pledged himself, if elected, to devote all his energies to the fulfillment of the promise contained in his platform. He was especially vigorous in his remarks, and denounced the banker who would gamble on the stock market and thereby place in jeopardy the funds entrusted to his care. To the laboring men he pointed to Mr. Taft as their enemy, and to the farmers he said that Mr. Taft had nothing to offer in the way of relief. President Roosevelt was again scored for the part he has played in the campaign.

The whole journey was made in a special train, and the route traversed was almost in a straight line south of Chicago. At various times during the day Mr. Bryan was accompanied by candidates for state offices and for congress, including Thomas R. Marshall, the Democratic nominee for governor. Stokes Jackson, state chairman, was with the candidate all day, while S. H. Alexander of Denver, Col., traveled as the representative of the national committee.

Great Ovation at Louisville.
 Passing in review before thousands of people along the line of march, followed by a parade of many hundreds of marchers and speaking to more people than the sound of his voice could reach, Mr. Bryan last night made a brief sally south of the Ohio river. The rally in Louisville was for Mr. Bryan, the culmination of one of the busiest days of the campaign, and the outpouring here equalled and possibly surpassed anything in the way of a demonstration the candidate has met with since he was notified of his nomination. From the time he left New Albany, just across the Ohio river, until he spoke his final word of farewell, Mr. Bryan was the recipient of a continuous ovation. Arriving in Louisville with the reception committee on two special trolley cars, Mr. Bryan passed through an unbroken lane of people from the river's edge until he reached Phoenix Hill park at the opposite end of the city, seven miles away. As the cars bearing the party reached the heart of town they took the line at the head of a procession over a mile long which was waiting to begin its march to Phoenix Hill. The crush along the line of march in the downtown shopping district was so great that police reserves were unable to manage it. Women and children were endangered at a number of congested points, and many minor accidents occurred as the result of overcrowding.

JAPAN CONTINUES FRIENDLY GREETING
It Is "Banzai" Everywhere For Men of Our Fleet.
 Tokio, Oct. 21.—Today's program in honor of the American occupation of Japan brought together the largest gathering of invited guests, both residents of this city and visiting Americans, that has occurred during the reception to the battleship fleet, when 2,000 persons assembled as guests of

VICE ADMIRAL HEIHACHIRO TOGO

Admiral Togo at a garden party. The affair was held at the Shinjuku imperial gardens. This evening Premier Katsura will entertain the American officers at dinner, and following this will come the social event of the week's entertainment, a grand ball.

Other events of the day were luncheons given by Baron Terauchi, Baron Mitsui, and a Japanese dinner at which Baron Iwasaki was the host. There were also many other forms of entertainment which completely filled the day.

There is no diminution in the popular enthusiasm with which the Americans are received on the streets, and wherever the carriages bearing the American officers appear, the streets are lined with cheering masses of Japanese. It is "banzai" everywhere for the officers and men of the fleet, and the most popular cry among the children of Japan is "Three cheers for America."

The baseball game resulted in a victory for the Japanese team after fifteen innings had been played. The decision of the Japanese umpire was questioned, but good-humoredly accepted by the boys of the fleet.

For the present Tokio is the center of attraction, many officers and about 600 Americans visiting this city daily, but Yokohama is filled with bluejackets, who are offered every form of entertainment, while large numbers of others are visiting nearby points of interest by means of special trains.

Up to the present time perfect order has prevailed among the sailors on shore liberty, despite their long tour of sea duty.

Many Chinese Drowned.
 Victoria, B. C., Oct. 21.—Local Chinese have received cablegrams telling of heavy loss of life and great desolation in Heping, China, as a result of the breaking of the dykes and overflow of the West river, inundating the district for hundreds of miles.

SHOW THIS TO YOUR GROCER
Orders Have Gone Out to Clean Up a Bit.
BETTER CARE OF FOOD STUFF

The State Board of Health Has Issued a New Rule for the Protection From Dust, Dirt and Vermin of Food That Is Prepared to Be Ready for Consumption Right Off the Shelf—Also the Old Custom of Letting the Cat Sleep in the Coffee Bin Has Got to Be Stopped.

Indianapolis, Oct. 21.—The state board of health has adopted a new rule as follows: "No manufacturer, dealer, vender or other person shall expose for sale or sell any bread, pastry, confectionery, shelled nuts, tapioca or other foods so prepared that they are ready for consumption, unless such foods are securely protected from insects, vermin, dust and all pollution."

Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board, says there was a crying need for such a rule. Inspectors of the board at different times, he says, had found cats slumbering in coffee bins and cracker barrels. Dr. Hurty believes the grocery store cat should be provided with a place where it may sleep without contaminating the food-stuffs. Dr. Hurty also said that maggots had been found in tapioca, and vermin of various kinds in crackers and nuts. It was for these reasons that the new rule was adopted. The rule is now in force, and inspectors will see to it that it is observed.

POISON IN CANDY
 Decatur County Widow Victim of Unknown Poisoner.
 Columbus, Ind., Oct. 21.—Mrs. Anna Parker, a widow, about seventy-five years old, and living at Forest Hill, Decatur county, received a box of bonbons through the mail. She ate some of the candy, and the first intimation members of the family had that anything was wrong was when they found the woman in convulsions. A physician was called, who says the woman cannot recover. An examination of the candy revealed the fact that it contained strychnine.

The relatives have no clue as to who sent the box, or why poisoned candy should be sent. The postmark was Indianapolis, but there was no writing of any kind in the box.

Left to Insurance Companies.
 Indianapolis, Oct. 21.—Coroner G. A. Petersdorf has returned a verdict in the case of the death of Mrs. Meyer Frankel, whose husband was arrested on the charge of murdering her. The verdict reads that the woman died of "morphine poisoning," but it does not say that Mrs. Frankel killed herself, was murdered or was accidentally poisoned. The coroner left the case to be fought out among the insurance companies and Frankel, who carried insurance amounting to about $15,000 on his wife.

Red Men Elect Officers.
 Indianapolis, Oct. 21.—The election of officers of the great council of Indiana, Improved Order of Red Men, resulted as follows: Great junior sagamore, O. C. Norris, Rushville; great chief of records, Otto Wolf, Frankfort; great representatives, W. B. King, Lafayette; Lewis A. Stoy, New Albany; Wilson Roosevelt, Goshen; John S. Coffman, Muncie; great trustee, Charles Cary, Alexandria.

Killed Himself After Quarrel.
 Clinton, Ind., Oct. 21.—As a result of a quarrel, due to jealousy, Mrs. Cal Morgan, wife of the proprietor of a saloon, committed suicide. Mrs. Morgan went to the barroom and asked for a glass of beer. She dropped a poisonous drug into it and swallowed it before her husband could knock it from her hand. The woman died in ten minutes. She leaves two small children.

Now Behind the Bars.
 Crawfordsville, Ind., Oct. 21.—J. Elbert Hughes, a Ripley township farmer, who disappeared from his home on Oct. 2, leaving debts behind him aggregating $16,000, is under arrest here and confined behind the bars at the county jail to answer to the charges of perjury and obtaining money under false pretenses brought against him by creditors.

Now Charged With Murder.
 Richmond, Ind., Oct. 21.—William Thornton, colored, who was shot Saturday night by Sherman Kellar, also colored, is dead in Reid Memorial hospital. The Wayne county grand jury, which is now in session, has returned an indictment against Kellar, charging him with murder.

Charged With Manslaughter.
 Rising Sun, Ind., Oct. 21.—Charles Overjost, who is accused of killing his brother Henry on Oct. 10, pleaded not guilty, and was bound over to the circuit court. The charge against him is manslaughter. He was released on $10,000 bail.

DO NOT DISFRANCHISE YOURSELF
All Voters Should Read Carefully the Following Specific Instructions.

Every year thousands upon thousands of persons have their first experience in voting under the Australian ballot system. It is important that first voters especially should be carefully instructed, to the end that their votes may not be nullified through imperfections. Older voters also need instruction because of changes that have been made in the election laws. At public meetings and in private, voters should be given specific information with reference to the procedure necessary in casting a ballot. To this end the following instructions may be found of value:

The device at the head of the Democratic ticket is a rooster.
 The device at the head of the Republican ticket is an eagle.
 The Democratic ticket is in the first column, the Republican ticket is in the second column, and so on.
 Below is a sample of the heading of the Democratic and Republican tickets with the respective party devices, in the order in which they will appear on the ballot:

DEMOCRATIC TICKET
 For Presidential Elector at-Large,
ADAM HEIMBERGER.

REPUBLICAN TICKET
 For Presidential Elector at-Large,
WINFIELD T. DURBIN.

When you go into your voting place you will be handed three ballots:
 The State ballot—On red paper, containing the candidates to be voted on for State offices, except for Senator and Representative.
 The county ballot—Printed on white paper.
 The township ballot—Printed on yellow paper, containing the township candidates.

If you want to vote a straight Republican ticket, make a cross within the circle containing the eagle at the head of the second column of the ballot.

INSTRUCTIONS TO VOTERS:
 First. You must get your ballot and the blue pencil from the Polling Clerks in the election room.
 Second. If you desire to vote a straight Republican ticket, then make a cross, thus, X, within the large circle containing the eagle. If you do not desire to vote a straight ticket, you must not make a cross in the large circle containing the eagle, but must make a cross, thus, X, on the small square to the left of the name of each candidate for whom you desire to vote, on whatever list of candidates it may be. If the large circle at the head of the ticket is marked with a cross or otherwise and the ballot is marked with a cross or otherwise at any other place, it will be void and cannot be counted, unless there be no candidate for some office in the list printed under such marked device, in which case you may indicate your choice for such office by making a cross, thus, X, on the square to the left of the name of any candidate for such office on any other list. The cross must be placed within or on the circle or square, or the ballot will be void and can not be counted.
 Third. Do not mutilate your ballots, nor mark them, either by scratching off a name or writing one upon them, nor in any other way put a mark upon them, except by placing one in the circle or on the squares, as above described. Otherwise the ballot will not be counted. You must not put any mark of any kind upon your ballot except in the manner above described.
 Fourth. After you have marked your ballots, and before you leave the election booth, fold them up separately so that the face of each one can not be seen, and so the initial letters of the names of the Polling Clerks on the back thereof can be seen. Then hand your ballots to the Inspector, the pencil to the Polling Clerks, and immediately leave the election room.
 Fifth. If you are physically unable to mark your ballots, or can not read English, so inform the Polling Clerks, and make an affidavit to that effect. They will then go with you into the election booth, and you can then tell them how you desire to vote, and they will mark your ballot for you. Neither you nor the Polling Clerks must permit any other person to hear or see how your ballot is marked. It is a penal offense to declare you can not read English or can not mark your ballot, if, in fact, you can.
 [In no case can the ballots be marked by the Polling Clerks if the voter can read the English language and is physically able to mark his ballot. Nor can they mark it until the voter has made the proper affidavit.]
 Sixth. If you should accidentally, or by mistake, deface, mutilate or spoil one of our ballots, return it to the Poll Clerks and get another one of the same kind.
 Seventh. You must not accept a ballot from any person outside of the election room. Any ballot outside is fraudulent; and it is a penitentiary offense to have it in your possession, whether you attempt to vote it or not.
 Eighth. You must not attempt to hold any conversation in the election room except with members of the Election Board and the Polling Clerks.
 Ninth. Use only the blue pencil handed you by the Polling Clerks in marking your ballots. If you mark with any other pencil, your ballot so marked will be void, and will not be counted.
 Tenth. You must not put any mark of any kind on your ballot, except as above described.

VOTING MACHINES.
 If you are not able to vote by machine on account of disability or inability to read English, and make affidavit to that effect, you will be instructed by the Polling Clerks, as in the case of voting by ballot. If you request it you will be instructed by the Polling Clerks as to the manner of voting by machine. You cannot remain in the voting machine booth more than one minute; no person can be in or near the machine when a voter is voting unless it is the Polling Clerks while instructing and assisting the voter.

THE NEW LAW AS TO BUYING AND SELLING VOTES.
 (Approved March 6, 1905. Acts 1905, p. 481.)

Penalty for Buying Votes.
 1. That whoever, directly or indirectly, hires, buys or offers to hire or buy, or furnish any money or other means to be used, or directs or permits his money or other means to be used, or handles any money or other means, knowing the same to be used to induce, hire or buy any person to vote or refrain from voting any ticket or for any candidate for any office, to be voted for at any election held in this State; or whoever attempts to induce any person to vote or to refrain from voting for any candidate for any office to be voted for at any election held pursuant to law or at any primary held in this State, by offering such person any reward or favor, shall be fined in any sum not more than fifty dollars and disfranchised and rendered incapable of holding any office of trust or profit for a period of ten years from the date of such conviction.

Penalty for Selling or Offering to Sell Votes.
 2. Whoever sells, barter, or offers to sell or barter his vote or offers to refrain from voting for any candidate for any office to be voted for at any election held in this State, either for any money or property or thing of value or for any promise or favor or hope of reward, given or offered by any candidate to be voted for at any election held in this state or by any other person or persons, shall be fined in any sum not more than fifty dollars and disfranchised and rendered incapable of holding any office of trust or profit for a period of ten years from the date of such conviction.

Witnesses.
 3. Any person called as a witness to testify against another for the violation of any of the provisions of sections one or two of this act, is a competent witness to prove the offense, although he may have been concerned as a party, and he shall be compelled to testify as other witnesses, but such evidence shall not be used against him in any prosecution for such or any other offense growing out of matters about which he testifies, and he shall not be liable to trial by indictment or information or punished for such offense.

SENATOR HEMENWAY APPROVED FOR RE-ELECTION

Following is the plank in the Republican State Platform concerning the United States Senators from Indiana:

"We have pride in the fact that no state in the Union is more ably represented in the Senate of the United States than Indiana. We compliment the people upon the return of Albert J. Beveridge to the United States Senate through the act of the Republican legislature of 1905, following the election of 1904; also upon the election of James A. Hemenway to fill out the term in the Senate of Charles W. Fairbanks, who resigned to become the Vice President of the United States. The long and faithful service of Mr. Beveridge and Mr. Hemenway in the congress has fully justified the high confidence which has been placed in them by the state. We approve, unqualifiedly, the course of each of these eminent citizens of Indiana. We earnestly advocate the continuation of them in the public service in which they are now engaged. And, inasmuch as the legislature which will choose a successor to Senator Hemenway will be elected this year, we commend him to the General Assembly of 1909 as the choice of the Republicans of Indiana, and we hereby heartily endorse him for re-election."

When the people of Indiana go to the polls this fall and vote for members of the legislature, they will know that if they cast their ballots for the Republican candidates, they are voting for the return of James A. Hemenway to the United States Senate. He has been endorsed for re-election by the Republican party of Indiana, the endorsement being the congregated expression of individual Republicans speaking through their representative conventions. Does any one know who will be the Senator if the Democrats succeed in carrying the Legislature? When a man votes the Democratic legislative ticket he is voting in the dark. The absurdity of the Democratic cry in Indiana for the election of Senators by popular vote must appeal to every thoughtful man. The Democratic party of Indiana has had plenty of opportunity to indicate a preference for United States Senator. But there never has been an official action that might serve as a light to guide the voters in their choice of members of the Legislature which will be called upon next January to elect a United States Senator from this state.

BEWARE OF ROORBACKS

This is the time of the campaign when the people should be on the lookout for roorbacks—campaign stories without foundation in fact—that are sent out at the eleventh hour to confuse the voters and to injure candidates. It ought to be well understood that a story attacking a candidate or a party which is true and worthy should not be held back until too late for investigation and verification. The roorback is a favorite device for unprincipled politicians.

SHALL THE BREWERS RULE?

The Indiana Brewery Combine, for the purpose of creating a prejudice against the county option law that a Republican legislature has placed on the statute books, and in hope of electing a Democratic legislature which will repeal the law, are spreading over the state glaring white posters, printed in red, declaring that the county option law will destroy business. With these posters are a lot of alleged pictures of business houses in Kansas City, Kansas, that the posters claim remain unoccupied because of the excluding of the saloon from that state. Governor Hoch of Kansas was asked about the situation in that state with respect to the excluding of the saloon, and here is what he says on the subject:

Topeka, Kansas, October 16, 1908.

I have your letter of the 13th inst., enclosing poster which you say is being displayed all over Indiana by the breweries in an effort to prove that the enforcement of prohibition in Kansas City, Kansas, has worked a great injury to the interests of the city. I have received many copies of this poster and find that it is being used all over the country. As a matter of fact, the enforcement of prohibition in Kansas City, Kansas, has proven of untold value to the city, not only morally and educationally, but financially as well. I am enclosing you a copy of a circular gotten out by the Commercial Club of Kansas City, Kansas, refuting the statements made by this circular issued by the brewers. This circular shows that the city is prospering as it has never prospered before. I am also sending you a copy of a speech made by Assistant Attorney General C. W. Trickett, giving facts to show that the enforcement of the law has greatly benefited the city in every way. I call your especial attention to a statement made by Mr. C. L. Brokaw, cashier of the Commercial National Bank of Kansas City, Kansas. Mr. Brokaw's bank is the largest in the city, and he is one of the prominent bankers of the West, being formerly president of the Kansas Bankers' Association. Mr. Brokaw says that during the time since the saloons were closed they have had the largest increase of new business they have had in any equal period in the bank's history. He says that their bank holds the accounts of more than 50 per cent of the business houses of the city and that merchants say that business has been better than they have ever known it before. He says further that during his tenure of nearly seventeen years conditions have never so good as they are today. Crime has greatly decreased, business in every legitimate line is better than it ever was, and although at the beginning of the movement for law enforcement many of the business men were opposed to it because they thought it would hurt the city financially, there has been a wonderful change of sentiment there, and under no consideration would the citizens go back to the old conditions.

E. W. Hoch

GOVERNOR.

In considering Governor Hoch's letter about the Kansas situation, the fact should be borne in mind that Kansas, in the state's constitution, prohibits the sale of intoxicating liquor as a beverage. The saloons which were maintained at Kansas City, Kansas, therefore, had no legal existence at any time; they were run in flagrant violation of the law and the constitution of the state of Kansas. They were permitted because similar forces to those that now are trying to establish the rule of the breweries in Indiana dominated the politics of Kansas City, Kansas. The breweries controlled the politics of this Kansas town, and the saloons were run in defiance of law and without regard to public sentiment. Finally an attorney general of the state who had courage and honesty came on the scene and broke the power of the Kansas City ring and drove the illicit saloons from that place. This brave officer simply brought into play the law that the breweries had derided and spat upon, just as they have ignored and abused the law in every other state in the Union that sought to restrain the traffic in the interest of the public peace and welfare. The brewery combine at Kansas City had neither respect for the law nor for public opinion; the same is true of the brewery combine in the state of Indiana. The temperance question would not be in the politics of Indiana this day but for the greed and the rapaciousness of the Indiana brewers and their contempt for the wholesome sentiment that demands laws in regulation of the liquor traffic that may abate its evils.

AN OPEN LETTER TO

THE VOTERS OF INDIANA

The Republican State Committee of Indiana sincerely deprecates personalities in political controversies. This rule was well established years ago, and it has been rigidly adhered to at all times. Therefore it was with much satisfaction that this committee received the declaration of the Hon. Thomas R. Marshall, made in a formal speech early in the summer, expressing the hope that the campaign in Indiana this year should be devoid of personalities. Mr. Marshall took the position that this committee holds, that political contests should be dignified. This committee was then and is now in perfect sympathy with Mr. Marshall's appeal for a clean campaign. In fact, Mr. Marshall's words on this subject were made the basis of many complimentary comments in the Republican newspapers, all of them, we believe, speaking in approval of his position. Following its fixed custom and mindful of the appeal of Mr. Marshall favoring a campaign from which personalities should be rigorously excluded, the Republican State Committee has religiously refrained from any and all acts in the campaign that might be interpreted to be a violation of the implied understanding that the contest should be conducted along the lines laid down in Mr. Marshall's speech on the subject of personalities in politics.

In so far as the knowledge of this committee extends, the Republican newspapers of the state and the Republican speakers, without exception, have treated Mr. Marshall and all the candidates on the Democratic ticket with consideration and uniform kindness. No effort has been made, by indirection or otherwise, to cast an unpleasant reflection on the personal character of any man the Democrats of Indiana have named for office. In Mr. Marshall's own case, we believe, the utmost care has been taken to follow his suggestion that personalities should not become a part of this partisan controversy.

Consequently it is with deep regret and no little humiliation that we observe that Mr. Marshall's partisans, in many instances, have not followed the rule he set down. We do not assert that these things have been done with Mr. Marshall's knowledge or by his consent. Nor do we charge that the Democratic state organization has set to work deliberately to stain the personal character of the Hon. James E. Watson, the Republican nominee for governor. It is a fact, though, that certain persons in this state manifestly have entered into a conspiracy to defame Mr. Watson by the circulation of false and malicious stories derogatory to him as a man and a citizen. As we have said, this committee cannot make itself believe that the Democratic organization is an accomplice in this conspiracy to injure the character of the Republican nominee, although justification for this belief might be urged in a number of instances where the Democratic press bureau of the state has been the vehicle for the dissemination of these libels.

"Who steals my purse steals trash;
'Twas mine; 'tis his, and has been slave to thousands.

But he who filches from me my good name
Takes that which enricheth him not
And makes me poor indeed."

It is true that Mr. Watson for months now in this campaign has been a target for all the personal slanders that vindictive malice could invent. Nothing has been too scurrilous for these harpies to concoct and spread in order to discredit Mr. Watson and to build up against him a prejudice that might operate to his disadvantage in the election. These libels had their origin in the dens of vice in Indiana whose owners and patrons are perturbed and indignant because Mr. Watson has dared to proclaim his faith in the platform adopted by the Republican party of Indiana, one plank of which advocates a local option law with the county as the unit. Furthermore, Mr. Watson, when the legislature was called into extraordinary session, used his influence to cause to be written into the statutes the identical law proposed by his party. When Mr. Watson took his decided stand as a candidate for governor on the platform of principles laid down by his party, he did so as a Republican. It was not a personal matter with him. He accepted the nomination of the Republican party for governor, and in so doing he obligated himself to support that which the Republican party believed to be right in this campaign. Had he done less, he would not be entitled to the respect and the confidence of the people of Indiana generally, to say nothing of the members of his own party who had signally honored him by choosing him to lead their ticket this year.

This being the case what Mr. Watson says and does on this subject is not on his own motion and by his own initiative; it is the expression of the congregated opinion of his party as well as reflection of his own view of the question. To make him the object of violent slander because of this is neither logical nor just. The platform declaration on the so-called temperance issue is the voice of the Republican party of Indiana, not simply the voice of James E. Watson, except in that Mr. Watson is one of some 400,000 Republican voters in the state of Indiana.

James E. Watson is an average man, a normal man. He belongs in that element of the American people which may be said to represent with exactness the best character of American citizenship. In every act of his life he has shown that he appreciates deeply the responsibilities which properly should rest on every normal citizen of the republic. He has shirked no share of the burdens which society lays upon its members. He has evaded no duty that the normal American owes to the state. When he came to manhood's estate he took unto himself a wife, and he is bringing up a family after the manner of the normal American citizen. He is a member of one of the leading churches of his home town. He has been associated more or less prominently with many of the leading secret societies of his state. He is a thirty-second degree Mason and one of the leaders of the Indiana Knights of Pythias, besides holding membership in numerous other orders. He has been a candidate for congress six times, and he has been elected each time. Both his public and his private life have been as an open book to the people of his congressional district for the last dozen years. When rumors attacking his personal character reached the people of his own home town, the ministers of the churches of that town, acting with the bankers, the judge of the circuit court, the superintendent of the public schools and other citizens, voluntarily issued a formal statement setting forth that Mr. Watson's home life is ideal; that in his association with his neighbors "his character never has been questioned for a moment," and that "his reputation for sobriety and morality is untarnished." Furthermore this positive recommendation by the ministers of Mr. Watson's town says with emphasis: "His manly stand for temperance is recognized as characteristic of the man and is in harmony with the private life he has led among us, and the utterances he made as a citizen, long before his present candidacy."

This approval of Mr. Watson's personal character comes from men divided in political belief, from ministers of the Protestant church and of the Catholic church. It is unspeakable to suggest that men of this kind may be procured to give public approval of one they know is not worthy. And to a man's own neighbors, among whom his life is passed, we must go for the truest estimate of his personal qualifications.

Those who know Mr. Watson realize how utterly groundless are all these libels that are passed around from saloon to bawdy house and back again, to be scattered over the state of Indiana by the agents of a combination of interests representing an element in society that does not exist for society's good. Mr. Watson has been slandered, grossly slandered, at the instance of the confederation of liquor interests which seeks to defeat him for governor because he has dared to speak before the people in support of a law that will give the people of any county of Indiana the right to say for themselves whether the saloons shall be excluded from that particular county. For this reason, and for none other, Mr. Watson has been vilified from one end of the state to the other. It seems to us that it is right and proper that the people of Indiana should understand that these vituperative assaults upon Mr. Watson's personal character have been made simply because of his attitude in upholding the Republican state convention's expression favoring the enactment of a rational law in restriction of the retail liquor traffic.

It is with regret that the Republican State Committee takes this method of calling the people's attention to the attacks upon Mr. Watson by anonymous cowards who are running over this state in the interests of the brewers' combine. But the committee feels that it is its duty so to inform the citizens of Indiana of the authorship of these slanderous innuendoes. The sum and substance of Mr. Watson's offense against the alliance of the liquor interests is that he has protected against the rule of Indiana politics by the brewers.

Believing in the justness of our position and having confidence that the people of Indiana are so constituted that they cannot be unfair to any man who appears before them as a candidate for public office, we respectfully submit this statement of facts.

JAMES P. GOODRICH,

Chairman.

The Republicans have even bested the camel. They say they can go four years without drinking.

Mr. Bryan declares that he stands by his record. He should stand close or it will fall over and smash him.

It must be embarrassing to the Democratic spellbinders to have to hear from Bryan before knowing what the paramount issue for the day is going to be.

There will be no county location law on our statute books by St. Patrick's day, or perhaps by St. Valentine day, if the plans of the Democrats be realized. And briskly are the brewers at work to realize the first of them on election day. It is up to the good people to show that they rule.

Wm. D. Foulke, Civil Service Commissioner, has come out in a strong endorsement of James E. Watson for Governor. He investigated Watson's labor record and also his civil service record and says he stood with Roosevelt in promoting labor legislation and in favor of civil service reform. In a speech at Richmond, Marshall said that "to the victors belong the spoils." Foulke says any man who favors such an antiquated system is unfit to be Governor of Indiana.

Rensselaer is one of the Indiana towns from which all the saloons have been driven. Now the people of that place speak with pride of their town and its great prosperity. It is said that every store room vacated by a saloon was filled by another business within three months, that merchants reported a thirty per cent increase in their business and that men who had for years borne the reputation of dead beats were now paying for everything and had the best of credit. Such a statement as this proves the fallacy of the arguments that the brewers are spreading broadcast by the seven-sheet poster method.

Letter From Panama

Gorgona, C. Z., Sept. 18, 1908.

Editor Republican:

One would expect to see and hear many kinds of song birds, but if they are here I have never heard them. There are parrots and buzzards, but their singing has never been praised by poets or travelers.

I have seen more buzzards here in a single day on the Isthmus than I have seen in all my life in the States. There are lizards in abundance, but of a harmless kind. Also many snakes. These, however, are not very frequently found along the traveled ways, not at all along the streets in the towns or cities.

On the works the other day I saw a "nest" of a dozen dug up, averaging some three feet in length.

There is not much fishing, though I am told of some very good catches in the Chagres river. Alligators are more plentiful on the Pacific side. Now and then they will be seen in the ponds or streams inland. The boys captured one at San Pablo recently that measured fourteen feet. They are very hard to capture, as their sense of hearing is very acute. But by shooting out their eyes they can be taken when found on the land.

Turtles are plentiful and attain great size. We took dinner from one that weighed four hundred and ninety-five pounds, which was killed by three of the men last week. Sloths and monkeys are seen very frequently.

The native hogs are properly called "razor backs." Sometimes men or boys lead them along the street as they would a dog. But for endurance and trotting qualities they put the average dog to shame. The cattle are better, having good size, long, round bodies and long horns. I can not see why cattle raising would not be profitable as they live and fatten upon native grasses and herbs and are the best animals upon the isthmus. The native horses are very small and active. They can go up hill like a goat. When working they will lay down in the street or turn around in the hills. The natives often load them with burdens larger than the horse. They will put on a beef and then get on top. They regard it loaded when he can not hold up any more. They have large baskets which hang upon either side of the animal and if they have only enough to fill one basket, instead of dividing the load they will put all in one basket and fill the other one with rocks to equalize the burden.

Coffee, cane, rice, pineapples, bananas, oranges and coconuts grow readily. I also notice that in the gardens, lettuce, radishes, peppers, asparagus, onions and a small kind of corn are cultivated. These gardens are owned by Chinamen and everything is planted in ridges. The gardener has a pole with a yoke that fits about the neck. The pole has a large jug of water at each end and he is thereby enabled to irrigate two rows in his garden at once.

The government has established an agricultural farm at Empire, but it has not been operated long enough to determine whether the experiment will be profitable.

Farming can never be largely or successfully done on the zone because of the mountains and the weather conditions.

Respectfully,
WALTER H. THOMAS.

On the Taxation of Toilers to Keep Up Military Swagger.

By WAYNE MACVEAGH, Former Attorney General of the United States.

THE poor timid souls who think Japan or Great Britain likely to attack the United States ought really to be sent to a weakminded asylum until they get rid of these cowardly delusions.

If it is our duty, strong, rich and unassailable as we are, to have a big and constantly growing navy, much more so it is the duty of all other nations less fortunately situated to do so, and more than one European authority has declared that OUR SWAGGERING TALK OF "A BIG STICK" AND OUR EVER GROWING NAVY have violently checked the tendency to a limitation of armaments, for, as they know us to be in no danger from others, they presume we can only desire a great navy for purposes of aggression upon weaker states, and they point to Mexico, Spain and Colombia as having suffered from us in the past.

We have just had a conference of president and governors to prevent waste of our national resources, and a most commendable purpose it is. I regret, however, that I cannot discover any tangible, practical proposal emanating from such a spectacular assembling together of the wisdom of the head of the nation, re-enforced by the wisdom of the heads of all the states and territories and illumined by the advice of such skillful appropriators to themselves of the national resources as Mr. Hill and Mr. Carnegie. Let us all hope, however, that some sensible and practical proposals will result, but meanwhile let us limit as far as possible THE SHAMEFUL WASTE BY CONGRESS OF THE MONEYS WRUNG FROM THE POOR on objects which can only add to their already heavy and unjust burdens.

SENATOR HALE SAYS NEARLY 70 PER CENT OF THE MONEY COLLECTED FROM THE POOR IS PAID OUT FOR WAR PURPOSES OF PAST, PRESENT OR FUTURE. JUST CONSIDER HOW FAR THAT WOULD GO IN TRANSFORMING THE BITTER, HARD DAILY LIVES OF THOSE WHO LITERALLY EARN THEIR BREAD, WHEN THEY ARE PERMITTED TO EARN IT, "IN THE SWEAT OF THEIR BROWS." CONSIDER HOW MANY YOUNG CHILDREN IT WOULD SAVE FROM WRECKED BODIES AND WRECKED SOULS.

It is indeed a great shame to us, rich and free as we are, that Great Britain should precede us in establishing "old age pensions" and thus relieving the aged and invalid poor from sending their young children to the factory or the mill, or, worst of all, to the streets, to earn something to keep the body and soul of the parents together.

They look up with their pale and sunken faces.
How long, they say, how long. O cruel nation,
Will you stand to move the world on a child's heart
And stifle down with a mailed heel its palpitation?

The answer is, Just as long as the contractors' lobby at Washington is allowed to waste the public money on SCHEMES FOR THE DESTRUCTION OF HUMAN LIFE and the withdrawing from useful labor of thousands of able-bodied men to be supported in idleness by the overtaxed men, women and children who must work or starve.

THIS MATTER OF SMOKE.

We are sure that our view of the cigar business is unusual. Most druggists and all cigar dealers sell cigars to make money. We sell them to make friends--and money too in the long run. We want to get smokers into the store and let them judge what kind of a business we conduct by the kind of a cigar they get. In cigars as in drugs we get the best that money can buy.

SOCIETY NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Buell of North Harrison street celebrated their fortieth wedding anniversary yesterday.

The piano pupils of Miss Hazel Morris gave a Matinee recital at her home in Orange Saturday of last week and a very interesting program was rendered by the class, assisted by Miss Mabel Myers. The class is composed of the Misses Mary McKee, Florence Paxton, Marian and Marjorie Tittsworth, Fern Matney, Ruby Day, Effie Matney, Mary Adams, Leona and Neta Beyer, Marie Matney, Irene Myer, Hazel Coon, Bertha May, Josie Creek and Master Laverne Dunn. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served.

The Mrs. May Donnan literary class will meet next Saturday.

The Trees family reunion was held at the home of J. L. Trees, east of Greenfield Sunday. About fifty members of this well known family were present. Members of the Trees family from Rush, and Shelby counties and Indianapolis were present.

Edgar E. Hite, a popular young attorney of this city, says the Greensburg News, was united in marriage Monday evening to Miss Eva Cartmel, the ceremony taking place at 8 o'clock in the parlors of the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cartmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Hite left this morning for a wedding trip at West Baden, French Lick and in the south. On their return they will make their home in this city.

The bride is one of the most popular young ladies in Clarksburg. She is prepossessing of appearance and is universally loved by those who know her.

Mr. Hite is a young lawyer of demonstrated ability. For some months previous to his coming to Greensburg, he practiced law in the city of Rushville. He is at present the secretary to the Democratic county central committee of this county. Mr. Hite is a young man of pleasing personality and is widely known and esteemed by the citizens of this and Rush counties.

SAY THEIR OWN ARE DISHONEST

Local Demented Saloon Organ Claim

Trustees Cannot Earn Over

$200 Annually.

NOW JUST LISTEN TO THIS!

The Average For Democrat Trustees is $460—Higher Than the Republicans' Salaries.

The local Democratic saloon organ in its issue Oct. 14th, 1908, says: "$200 is the highest salary a township trustee can honestly earn in one year's time."

Now there are five Democratic township trustees in Rush county. Their average salaries for the year 1907 was $460. None of them received less than twice the salary fixed by the Democrat saloon organ for the limit of honesty. Will these men and their friends admit that they are dishonest?

While the average of the Democratic trustees was $460 per annum, the salary of the Republican trustees did average but $442, and among the seven Republicans is the Rushville township trustee whose salary was $628, and of a necessity larger on account of the immense volume of business transacted. Still the Republicans come under the wire with a smaller salary list.

It is really like quarreling with some one else's children to take up issues with the Democratic organ. In the first place it does not represent the Democracy that in former years rallied around those editors George H. Puntenney, Will E. Wallace or Will S. Meredith. On the other hand it is nothing more than a lot of inexperienced men and boys under the magnetic control of crafty saloon men. They are not worthy the dignity of an answer to their slurring articles.

They speak for themselves. Ever reeking with inconsistencies. Painful, because one can see incompetency striving to say something and then utterly failing. Laughable, because they know not what they do. Back to the farm and school room and there "open the books;" study, learn and come to us again and let us see what you have done with your five talents. We have opened your eyes and showed you your absolute and total lack of ability.

AMUSEMENTS

In real life the athlete and scholar are often combined, more rare, however, is the combination of religious and physical students. One notable example is the present day famous Evangelist, Rev. William Sunday, who became known universally as a member of the Chicago Ball Team. He was one time the speediest base runner of the National League and yet never neglected his religious studies. Today his forte for the betterment of mankind is unlimited and he daily attracts immense crowds.

Lem. B. Parker's play, the greatest sensation of the present theatrical season, combines these greatest virtues, physical and moral perfection, in the title role of "The Fighting Parson," which W. F. Mann offers at the Grand Thursday October 22d.

The Vaudet offers a fine novelty in the hand-colored French film entitled "Mr. Fuzz," a story dating back into the middle ages, different from the rest, beautiful costumes and coloring, and very interesting from beginning to end. Miss Liddle sings "That's What the Daisy Said."

Lady Betty

Across the Water

By C. N. & A. M. WILLIAMSON

Copyright, 1906, by McClure, Phillips & Co.

I thought it was silly to have wir nettings in all the doors and windows, just to keep away a few innocent midges, until we sat out after lunch. There is a pleasant balcony with an upstairs and a downstairs, which Potter and Captain Collingwood call the "plazza," and it would have been delightful sitting there while the men smoked if appalling little animals with a ridiculous number of thin, stick out legs hadn't come buzzing around us. They were saucy looking things, got up in loud suits of black and gray stripes, not in the least like our quiet, respectable midges at home, and they weren't even honorable enough to wait until sunset before attacking you. They pricked horribly, like pins your maid has stuck in the wrong places, and they had a horrid penchant for your ankles. I was sorry I had on ecked stockings. And I apologized heartily to Potter for poking fun at his wire nettings.

Though it was so hot, the air was delicious. It smelt of new mown grass and lilacs, with a sharp little spicy tang of the thick Virginia creepers, which made a shadowy green room of the "plazza." Birds were simply roaring with joy in the trees that overhung the house, and Potter and I almost quarreled because he would insist that some huge creatures hopping about on the grass were robins. They would have made three of ours and were much more like quails that had split strawberry jam on their breasts.

By and by Captain Collingwood asked if "Lady Betty didn't want to go and see things."

"She's hooked to me for Flirtation Walk," said Potter, before I could answer. "There's a crowd there, old chap." On which I regret to state Captain Collingwood suggested that Potter should teach his own grandmother something about nourishing herself with an egg diet.

"Anyhow, I suppose you don't object to a rear-guard for inspection of camp and other features of public interest," he went on, and after some hesitation Potter decided that this would be admissible.

Mrs. Ess Kay and Sally both wanted to lie down (it's strange the fondness American women have for putting themselves in a horizontal position in the daytime), so Mrs. Ess Kay said that she would commission her brother as chaperon; I needn't be anxious, she assured me, it was quite comme il faut. As if I would have worried about a thing like that!

I was delighted to go, because the most interesting groups had been passing the house, and it was difficult to see all you wanted to through the veil of creepers, without continually craning your neck. Tall, brown faced boys, got up much like glorified Buttons, were sauntering about, holding sunshades over the heads of girls so young that they would have been in short frocks with their hair down their backs, in England. The girls were in white muslin or pale colors, with charming, floppy Leghorn hats trimmed with flowers, and they looked like the daintiest, prettiest of French dolls. But I was a great deal more interested in the youths, who were the cadets—first classmen, Potter said, and would be second lieutenants next year.

I never could take much interest in Eton boys, the few I have seen, for they look such children that one would be positively ashamed to bother with them, but the West Point cadets (though one couldn't exactly take them seriously like regularly grownup men, perhaps) fascinated me from the very first glance through Potter's Virginia creeper. They looked as if they thought a lot of themselves, and the girls they were with had the air of encouraging them to think it. I wondered what kind of things they said to girls and secretly longed to find out.

It seems that in summer the cadets leave their barracks and go into camp, which is a time of year that the girls who visit West Point and those whose fathers are stationed there like very much. We had a glimpse of the tents from the long street of the officers' quarters, and after we had visited a few technical things in which I was too polite to show that I was hardly interested we strolled over to where we could see the little white pyramids gleaming under the stars and stripes.

I had been afraid that all the cadets would have gone away to Flirtation Walk with girls, but to my joy there were plenty left in camp. On chairs under the trees near by two or three ladies were sitting with some white butterfly girls, and a crowd of cadets were talking to them.

"There's a great pal of mine, Mrs. Laurence," said Captain Collingwood. "She would love to know you, Lady Betty. Do you mind if I introduce you to each other?"

"See here, that means we shall be hitched up with all that lot of cadets," Potter objected quite crossly. "What's the good of wasting time?"

I hurried to say that I shouldn't consider it a waste of time, that I should be delighted to meet Mrs. Laurence and also a few sample cadets, if any could be provided for the consumption of an inquiring British tourist.

Captain Collingwood thought that one or two might be found who would not object to the sacrifice, and five minutes later I was having more fun than I had ever had before in my life.

Mrs. Laurence was sweet and so tactful. She scarcely talked to me at all, except to ask me how I liked America and a few of the things people are obliged to get off their minds when they meet a foreigner, and then she introduced five cadets.

I was terrified for a minute, because until I left home my whole (youthful) male experience consisted of one brother, three cousins and two curates, dealt with separately and with long, sleepy intervals between. I began to wonder how I could possibly manage five tall youths at once and to rack my brains for the right kind of conversa-

It was difficult to see all you wanted to through the veil of creepers. But before I should have had time to say "knife" to a curate I found myself chatting away with those cadets as if I had grown up with them. I never once stopped to think what I should say next, and neither did they.

Some girls were introduced to me, too, but luckily they didn't seem to expect me to talk to them much, so I didn't. More and more cadets kept coming over from camp and joining our group and being introduced in agreeable droves until I gave up even trying to remember their names.

There was one, though, in the first batch of five whose name was easy to get hold of and keep in mind because it was Smith. Besides, he was the best looking of all, which made classifying him a real pleasure.

The girls who spoke to Mr. Smith called him "captain," perhaps jokingly, and I asked how he could be a captain and yet a cadet unless it meant "cricket." Then he explained that the cadets had all the different grades of officers, from adjutant and captain down to sergeant, and wanted to know if there were any other questions I would care to ask. I said that there were lots, but I wasn't sure if I might.

"I give you a permit," said he in a military way.

So I began with the buttons. "I should like to know why you have so many—all those rows on your jacket. And it's only the middle row you seem to use for anything."

"We use the others to give away to girls to remember us by," answered my cadet. "It's forbidden, but that's a detail. Or rather it's why the girls like to have them."

I stared. "None of yours are missing."

"Most of 'em are pinned on at present. It's that way with all of us. Our plebs sew 'em on for us at night and use the door for a thumb."

"Oh, what are plebs, if you please? Are you allowed valets?"

"I guess they call 'em fags in your country. There are a lot of them lying around. Shall I have some caught and dragged here? They might squirm a bit, as they aren't used to ladies' society, but—"

I hastily protested against such a cruel exhibition and went on with my questions. I asked what they did in winter and how long they had to be cadets and whether they were in a hurry to be officers.

"Not as long as the girls can put up with us as we are," said my cadet. "Some of them even pretend they like us better."

"I can quite understand that!" I exclaimed. And then they all laughed, and some of them applauded.

"The really important question is," said Captain or Mr. Smith, "whether you are going to be an officers' or a cadets' lady."

I hadn't an idea what he meant, but I remembered Vic's saying that in the lower middle classes they sometimes call a man's wife his "lady." Perhaps, I thought, the expression had been brought over to the nicest people in America in the Mayflower, which they all talk so much about, for certainly some of the people in her must have been cooks or in the steerage; there are too many descendants for the first class passengers alone. After considering for a minute I said in rather an embarrassed way that I wasn't "quite sure yet whether I would be either."

"You must be one or the other, you know, or you'll be like the bat in the fable who was neither bird nor beast, and so was out of all the fun on both sides. I may be prejudiced, but I advise you to be a cadets' lady. And you'd better decide now on account of tonight."

"Tonight?" I repeated, puzzled.

"Yes, on account of making out your card. Say, Lady Betty, if you are going in with us, can I make out your card?"

Then arose a clamor. It appeared that they all wanted to make out the card—whatever it was. I asked if I couldn't have one from each, but it appeared that you couldn't do that. My cadet had spoken first, so he said that he would do it, but the others could give me bell buttons and chevrons and decorate fans for me instead.

"Do you like hops, Lady Betty?" inquired a perfect pet of a cadet, who looked like a cherub in uniform.

"Hops?" I wondered why he should ask me such an irrelevant question, but I answered as intelligently as I could. "I don't know much about them. I think they're graceful, but I don't like the smell."

He looked petrified. "The smell?"

"Yes. It makes one sleepy."

"I guess we won't give you much chance to be sleepy, then," said he, "at our hop."

Then I understood. But what a funny thing to call a ball—a "hop!"

They explained, too, when they saw how stupid I was, that you were an "officers' lady" if you danced with them and walked with them and flirted with them and didn't bother with cadets, or vice versa. Then I decided at once that I would be a cadets' lady, though I was sorry I had only one night to be it. They were sorry, too, and showed their sorrow in so many nice ways that I enjoyed myself immensely and quite saw how nice it must feel to be out if you are a success. They wanted to draw lots for which cadet should take me to Flirtation Walk, but I said I had to go with Mr. Parker.

He must have been listening from a distance, though he ought to have been talking with a pretty girl who had no hat, for he came up to me at once and announced that it was time to go now. He rather put on airs of having a right to tell me what I must do, and I didn't like it much, especially before those dear cadets, but it would have been childish to make a fuss. Besides, I was his guest.

To be continued.

Harry Slough, clerk of the state election board, has fifty-eight men at work preparing the ballots to send out to the voting precincts of the state. One million, two hundred and ten thousand ballots have been printed. The estimated vote is 779,965. The election commissioners send 25 per cent more ballots than there are voters in each precinct. In addition each county gets 2,000 reserve ballots and a reserve for the whole state is held in the vault. Three copies of the election laws, three samples and three blue pencils are sent to each precinct. The presses were just three and three-quarters days turning out the ballots. Friday a force of men began to wrap up the bundles, and they expect to finish the work next Friday, when the county clerks will begin to come in to get the ballots. It costs about $23,000 to get out the state's ballots at a national election.

INDIANA POLITICS

ROBERT G. TUCKER.
Indianapolis, Oct. 21.—In spite of the dispatch from New York to the effect that William H. Taft's voice will preclude his keeping his outdoor speaking engagements in Indiana, the Republican leaders of this city are going ahead preparing for a monster reception in his honor Friday night. They expect him to make a speech too. In case the condition of his throat does not improve in the mean time, it is likely that the arrangements, which now contemplate an address from the platform at the Harrison monument, between the Federal building and University park, will be changed to make the meeting indoors. Widespread regret is being expressed among Republicans over the probability of Indiana not hearing the Republican candidate. With Bryan and Gompers spreading trails of Democratic doctrine over the state, it is generally believed by the Republican leaders that Taft's visit at this time will be of immense value to the Republican cause, if he is able to speak. Chairman Hayes of the Republican state committee's speaking bureau, maintains today that Taft will speak. In spite of stories from New York, said to be on the authority of Chairman Hitchcock, he says he will not be convinced that the party will not hear the candidate's voice this week until the three-days' trip begins tomorrow morning at Lawrenceburg. Republicans are taking a great deal of satisfaction from the report of the Civic League on local candidates. The Civic League recommends the election of seven of the eight Republican candidates for the legislature and all the Republican candidates for state senate, including the joint senator, T. T. Moore of Greencastle. A number of Republicans were recommended for county office, also. This in the face of the cries of "graft," on which the Democrats are basing their strongest hopes, is greatly encouraging to local Republicans. The Civic League is entirely non-partisan.

Great interest exists among followers of the happenings in politics by the expulsion of Frank Fassold, a fire insurance adjuster, from the Marion club, a Republican organization. Fassold was expelled because of his announced intention to vote the Democratic ticket. In a letter to the board of directors, Fassold declared himself to be an independent Republican and that his expulsion would not change him in that regard; that, as he says, "no bribe such as the retaining of his membership in the Marion club could change his vote." Another Hearst candidate has withdrawn from the county ticket. A. P. Herron notified the election commissioners that he has no desire to be Hearst's candidate for state representative. Odds against James E. Watson are growing larger on the local betting boards. A row of bets offered on Watson were at the odds of 60 to 100 today, the lowest offer yet made. Most bets made in the past few days have been at 100 to 50 on Marshall. There have been no repetitions of the bet made early in the campaign of $10,000 to $1,000 on Taft. An offer at 5 to 4 is posted that Taft will carry Indiana, however. Among the odd bets is one that Bryan will get 800,000 more votes than Parker did, the bet being made at even money.

An epidemic of diphtheria in Indiana is giving Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the state board of health, some concern. During September, he says, 352 cases have been reported from thirty-two counties and twenty-nine deaths have resulted. In September, 1907, there was a total of ninety-nine cases, reported from twenty-six counties, with only twelve deaths. This year's record contains three times as many cases and twice as many deaths as last year's. The counties from which the worst reports come are Bartholomew, Benton, Pike, Vigo and Washington. It is well known, Dr. Hurty says, that all cases of diphtheria are not reported, many being diagnosed as tonsillitis and sore throat. In one case, he said, where a culture and microscopic examination showed diphtheria, the physician attending the case reported it as catarrhal inflammation of the throat. Typhoid fever has been less severe. The September record shows 446 cases, with 118 deaths, as against 642 cases in the same month of last year and 133 deaths. The deaths from violence were in a greater number—217 as against 199. The railroad death list numbers 35 for September.

BROUGHT TO LIGHT.
Rushville People Receiving the Full Benefit.

There have been many cases like the following in Rushville. Everyone relates the experience of people we know. These plain, straightforward statements will do much toward relieving the suffering of thousands. Such testimony will be read with interest by many people.
Mrs. H. T. Champion, 610 W. Fifth St., Rushville, Ind., says: "After recovering from a severe illness my husband was afflicted with kidney trouble. He was subject to attacks of backache and a lameness across his hips. The kidney secretions also caused him much annoyance by their frequent passages and added to all this were occasional headaches and dizzy spells. He finally began using Doan's Kidney Pills, which he procured at F. B. Johnson & Co's drug store and the improvement in his condition was soon noticeable. The lameness was removed from his back and the kidney difficulties corrected. We consider Doan's Kidney Pills a most reliable remedy."

HORRID FATE AVERTED

Woman Saved From Living Inhumation by Timely Intervention.
Ellis Kas., Oct. 21.—The timely intervening of a physician who was not satisfied with the appearance of the body, prevented the burial alive of Mrs. Thomas Chapman, wife of a prominent citizen. Mrs. Chapman was supposed to have died suddenly.
The body was prepared for burial but was not embalmed. Just before the casket was sealed for the funeral a physician requested permission to see the body. After confirming his suspicions the woman was removed from the coffin and placed in bed. While her heart is very weak, it is believed Mrs. Chapman will recover.

Internal Revenues Falling Off.
Washington, Oct. 21.—The statement of government receipts from internal revenue sources for the month of September shows a marked improvement over August. For the former month the total collections were $21,096,956, as against $19,094,687 for August. The returns from spirits alone for September show total collections of $10,955,050, as against $9,034,514 for August. Both months, however, are far below the normal, the decrease for September being $1,221,527 as compared with September, 1907. For the last three months a decrease of $7,262,238 is shown as compared with the corresponding period of 1907. This decrease is regarded as almost wholly due to recent temperance legislation in many states.

Held on Track Clue.
Medina, O., Oct. 21.—Guy Rasor, held for the murder of Orle Lee, his sweetheart, on the road near Wadsworth, on the night of Oct. 8, has been bound over to the grand jury on a charge of first degree murder. The defense sought to show that he had always been devoted to the dead girl and that he had no cause to kill her. The state's strongest evidence was the tracks left in the dust of the road by the horse and buggy which carried the girl to the place where her body was found. The tracks tallied with the peculiar shoeing of Rasor's horse.

Two Prominent Tennessee Lawyers Victims of Mob.

TROUBLE OVER A FISHING HOLE

In Revenge for Being Deprived of Fishing Privileges at Reelfoot Lake, Col. Taylor and Capt. Rankin, of Trenton, Are Taken From Their Beds by Night Riders at Reelfoot, Capt. Rankin Being Hanged—Col. Taylor Managed to Get Away and Sought Refuge in Bayou, but It Is Not Thought Likely That He Escaped.
Union City, Tenn., Oct. 21.—Advices from Reelfoot lake, where a mob of masked men took Colonel R. Z. Taylor, aged 60, and Captain Quinten Rankin, both of Trenton and widely known lawyers, out of their hotel at that place and murdered the latter, fail to report the finding of Colonel Taylor's body or to reveal any trace of his whereabouts.
A man named Powell who hauls fish from "The Log" to Hickman, is said to have been forced to accompany the mob, which numbered about eighty members. Powell had been stopping at the hotel, and when the riders called everyone out and compelled them to lie up, Powell, Colonel Taylor, Captain Rankin and the surveyor, whose name is unknown, are said to have been taken away, the others being permitted to return to their beds.
Powell states, it is said, that after hanging Rankin, a vote was taken regarding the disposition to be made of Taylor. During the dispute Taylor made a dash and jumped into the bayou, starting to swim across it. A number of shots were fired at him, and in the confusion Powell slipped away and brought back the story of the escape, or attempted escape, of Taylor.
Searchers found the trees on the edge of the bayou clipped by bullets and there were deep footprints in the mud along the shore. On the other side of the bayou, there was a single footprint.
Governor Patterson arrived at Humboldt and held a consultation with citizens of Trenton, who came down to meet him. Governor Patterson announced that he had offered a $10,000 reward and would visit the scene in person. He then left for Union City and spent the night there.
Judge Joseph E. Jones adjourned circuit court and called a special session of court at Union City, which is in his circuit. He announces that he will have the grand jury empanelled at once and will have the court organized immediately. Governor Patterson will have the militia called out to protect the sessions of the court if necessary, but has not yet been called upon by the sheriff of Obion county, in which the outrage occurred, for any troops—a requisite preliminary to calling them out for regular posse duty.
One hundred militiamen, under the command of Colonel W. C. Tatom, mobilized at the state capitol in Nashville and left for Reelfoot lake. The orders calling them out did not state whether they were to go guard duty at the courthouse pending the grand jury investigation, or whether they were to go into field service.
The trouble between inhabitants on the banks of Reelfoot lake and Colonel Taylor and Captain Rankin originated several years ago, when the two latter men incorporated and organized the West Tennessee Land company. They bought Reelfoot lake from non-resident property owners and immediately made regulations of their own concerning fishing privileges. The lake separates Obion and Lake counties, in the extreme northwest corner of Tennessee.
Numbers of the residents in that neighborhood have made their living for some time by fishing in the lake, and they became indignant when what they claimed as their "rights" were disturbed. They made demands of the land company, and these were followed by threats.
Colonel Taylor desired protection, in some form, from the state, and he obtained the passage by the legislature of an act regulating fishing in Reelfoot lake. This act made it a misdemeanor to fish in the lake without paying a heavy fee. This served to arouse the fishermen. Fearing trouble, Captain Rankin and Colonel Taylor have remained away from the vicinity of the lake for some time. Recently, however, they heard that the feeling against them had somewhat subsided. There were some legal papers at Walnut Log which needed attention, and the attorneys went there to see about them.
Fire Fighters Look for Rain.
Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Oct. 21.—Hundreds of residents in this district who have been fighting forest fires are depending upon predicted showers to give much needed relief. A forty-mile gale spread the fires in all directions. It is reported that Sugar Island which has a population of 1,000 people, is ablaze almost from one end to the other. Near Detour sixteen square miles have been burned over. Gladys, Eckerman, Sheldrake and Whitefish point are surrounded.

The Jews and Thirteen.

Commenting on the thirteen superstitions in the Oesterreichische Wochenschrift, Jacob E. Ehrlich, a Jewish writer, says: "The number thirteen is surely not a bad one for us. The holy writ tells of the thirteen attributes of the Most High, and we have thirteen feast days in each year. Our great arch enemy, Haman, was hanged on the 13th of Abas. The thirteenth birthday of our sons is a day of joy because on that day the child becomes a member of the religious community. The dream of Joseph was of thirteen—the sun, the moon and eleven stars—and Jacob had thirteen children."

REUBEN CAME IN A NEW FANGLED RIG

Berlin Caldwell and Al Linville Had a Freak Outfit That Provoked Much Laughter.

CART WAS BEFORE THE HORSE

Berlin Caldwell and Al Linville were voted the buffoons of the Fall Horse show last night. They had a clever outfit—the cart before the horse—that provoked no end of laughter and got cheers all along the line of march.

An old rickety buggy was arranged with the shafts put on behind. A bus horse was pressed into service and with Al Linville on board, pushed the buggy about. Berlin guided the buggy with a motor car apparatus. Both were dressed like backwoodsmen and it was the hit of the evening.

SOME WORD ORIGINS.

Hurrah comes from the Old Norse "Hra" meaning the Vikings.

Rah, the final syllable of most college yells, is, of course, short for hurrah. The word hurrah itself comes from the old battle cry of the ancient vikings—namely, "Tur Aie, which means God aid. There is another form, huzza, which comes from hosanna. This was the old cry of the crusaders. The word yes comes directly through the Norman-French oyez, which means near. In its old form it is still used by beaules and certain municipal officials in civic functions in England and also by the royal heralds in proclaiming the succession of sovereigns to the throne. No is purely Norman-French and comes from the Latin non ita, meaning not so. The real Anglo-Saxon was nay, just as the Anglo-Saxon affirmative was yea. The word mister is directly from the Latin magister, meaning master. Mrs. is from the word mistress, and formerly, as late as the eighteenth century, all unmarried women were given the title of mistress—as, for example, Mistress Sophia Western in "Tom Jones." Esquire is derived from the old Norman-French escuyer, which means shield bearer. Every knight of the shire had his shield bearer, and the honor of carrying the shield was supposed to confer gentility upon the follower. The word gentleman until the middle of the seventeenth century meant, as the present French word gentilhomme, a nobleman, nothing less, and no man was a gentleman who was not entitled to "bear arms."—New York World.

The business of a well-known firm of New York opticians consists largely of the manufacture of spectacles for horses to make them step higher.

SOCIETY WOMEN

Some Spend Hundreds of Dollars a Year on Their Hair.

Leaders of society in New York know the social value of attractive hair, and according to a metropolitan newspaper every society woman spends a great deal of money to keep her hair beautiful and resplendent.

These women employ highly paid hair dressers and specialists, and so long as they have money to gratify their desire for beautiful hair, none should complain.

But what about the thousands and thousands of women just as intelligent, just as refined, and just as lovable as any society woman, who have not the means for expert hair dressers and specialists?

What are they to do? Are they not entitled to beautiful, lustrous and luxuriant hair?

Most assuredly they are, and thousands of them give thanks daily to the great scientist and dermatologist who put within their reach, at a small price, the marvelous and quick acting hair tonic known all over America as Parisian Sage.

F. B. Johnson & Co. will sell you a large bottle of Parisian Sage for 50 cents. It will make any woman's hair grow thicker, more beautiful and more lustrous in a few weeks.

It cures dandruff by killing the microbes, and it is guaranteed by F. B. Johnson & Co. to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks, or money back. Get a bottle while it's on your mind. It is a most pleasant hair dressing, and it is not sticky or greasy.

For sale by F. B. Johnson & Co., or direct, all express charges prepaid, from Giroux Mfg. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

POLE CAT ROUTS MEN.

(Greenfield Star.)

If anyone asks Ben Fauts of Brandywine township what he is using for fertilizer this year he will give you a queer look and it is probable that he will not answer the query.

Mr. Fauts's neighbors almost rose up in arms one day recently when the winds carried to them such odors as they had never encountered before. An investigating party was organized and in a short time the cause of the trouble was discovered.

Mr. Fauts had engaged a number of workmen to raise his barn. While the men were engaged in putting timbers and jackscrews under the huge building, they encountered a nest of polecats that had taken up their abode under the barn for the winter.

When the men saw what they had encountered, there was a consultation as to what would be the best means of routing these undesirable animals from their quarters. While they were talking the animals also decided to "get busy." And they did. In a short time the little cats were running helter skelter over the barn yard leaving after them such odors that almost stifled the workmen. In fact, work had to be discontinued for the day.

HIS SUNDAY SUIT.

He Was a Good Dresser and Careful With His Things.

"The line which separates those who 'dress for dinner' from those who do not is an invisible crack compared with the yawning gulf that divides those people of London who 'dress themselves of a Sunday' from those who have none but their workaday clothes." So writes a district nurse in "The Next Street but One."

"I had often noticed," said the writer, "that one highly respectable old agricultural laborer wore very much the same clothes at all times, but unfortunately it was not until after his death that I heard of the tragedy that had darkened all the Sundays of his later life and bitterly mortified his wife and daughters.

"Thirteen years ago his clothes were stole by a tramp, and us never had no money for to put 'em back. Us did feel it, going to chapel and all. There's a many as would have stopped at home, but he wasn't that sort, the old man wasn't. 'It's the garments of our souls as matters,' he'd say. But for all that he was ashamed to wear his week day ones. He couldn't never get used to it.

"His proper suit was made by an Irish tailor who came over to these parts in a cattle boat and stayed a month or two, earning what he could all roundabout. Twenty-nine years they'd lasted him, and they'd have seen him through to the end. Yes, he was always a good dresser, and pretty careful with his things too."

Will Leave Rushville.

The gentlemen conducting the foreclosure sale for The Smith & Nixon Piano Co. of Cincinnati, O., on the stock of pianos formally owned by the Cox, Hickey Piano Co. of this town, will leave the city after the sale closes next Saturday night. They have sold eight pianos since a week ago Monday which is a remarkable record for Rushville. The manager, Mr. Burling, tells us that he still has five very fine high grade pianos on the floor in the Masonic building, and that he is determined to close this stock out entirely between now and Saturday night. He should be successful in his determination owing to the fact that our citizens have the good fortune to purchase these pianos positively at the manufacturers price. This means that the people of this community will have a chance to buy a piano within the next four days at the same price that a dealer must pay for them at the factory.

Mr. Burling also states that any one who has an old instrument that they wish to exchange in on a new one they will allow them a good price for same.

A good feature of this forced sale is, that anyone who wishes to buy can have terms to suit. This certainly is a grand opportunity for the people of this vicinity to get a genuine bargain and should be investigated at once.

It would be unnecessary to allow space in these columns for an introduction of the Smith & Nixon Piano Company of Cincinnati, Ohio, as they are an old established incorporated firm and a thoroughly reliable one.

COUNTY NEWS

Glenwood.

Rev. Gordon preached two very able sermons at the U. P. church Sabbath, one in the morning and one in the evening. He surely is a most worthy minister of the gospel.

The Prohibition speaker at our place the other night is quite a good orator, but he made votes for the Republicans. The campaign is too personal and who begun it? Why don't some Democrat explain how Mr. Marshall was nominated; anyone can tell how James E. Watson was nominated.

The Democrat paper makes the statement that any trustee who takes more than $200 for his salary is dishonest. Wonder how that will suit the four in our county who receive not less than $400 each. One of the Democrat trustees says the office would not tempt him unless there were $1200 in it. How will he take what the Daily Democrat says?

Rev. Geo. B. Walls preached a most excellent sermon which was very practical in its application. His congregation was very attentive as they are most always.

Mr. J. W. Dickey just over in Fayette county has sold his farm of 120 acres to Mr. Henry Geise a citizen of our township, living on the old Hilary place north of Farmington. The consideration was $9020.

Some of the citizens get too noisy on Saturday nights.

The quarterly conference of Glenwood charge will be held at Columbus next Sunday Oct. 25. Rev. E. B. Rawls the district superintendent of Connersville district will preach in the evening at 7:30. The regular quarterly conference will held on Monday morning following at 10:30 o'clock. Everybody is cordially invited to attend any and all of these services.

Rev. Geo. B. Walls conducted the funeral services of Mr. Robt. C. Dawson deceased at the M. E. church in Orange. There was a large concourse of people followed to his last resting place. Bro. Rob.

Dawson had been a consistent member of the M. E. church since 1882. He leaves a family of sons and daughters. Among the sons is one only 8 years old. His wife had preceded him some three years ago. The family have the sincere sympathy of the entire community.

CROUP QUICKLY CURED

Don't Let the Child Choke to Death While Waiting for the Doctor.

Croup should have prompt treatment. The life of many a dear one has been sacrificed because the right remedy was not at hand.

Pay close attention to the child who is feverish, thirsty, and occasionally coughs dryly and shrilly. This is the first stage of croup, and instant treatment should be given.

Hyomei, the miraculous, antiseptic dry air treatment, will cure croup in either the first or second stages. Easily inhaled, even when the breathing is irregular, it reaches more promptly than any other remedy the terrible inflamed membrane of the windpipe. It soothing balsams act immediately, the inflammation is allayed, and the swelling reduced.

"Not long ago our little boy Walter, awoke in the night with a bad attack of croup, so that he experienced great difficulty in breathing.

We allowed him to inhale Hyomei, and he immediately began to breathe easier, and in half an hour was fast asleep. Our children, being subject to croup, we feel safe with Hyomei in the house, and I am glad to speak a good word for a remedy that will rob croup of its terrors."—Rev. Geo. Sisson, Pastor of M. E. Church, South Londonberry, Vt.

Hyomei (pronounced High-o-me) is the quickest acting and most sensible remedy ever discovered for all diseases of the nose, throat, and lungs. It is guaranteed by F. B. Johnson & Co. to cure catarrh, coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis and croup, or money back. A complete outfit, including a neat hard rubber pocket inhaler, costs only $1.00. An extra bottle of Hyomei, if afterwards needed, costs but 50 cents.
